Organisation environment

Djirra<sup>1</sup> is an Aboriginal Community Controlled Organisation (ACCO) that works towards a future where all Aboriginal women are strong, safe, independent, healthy and positive in their lives, culture and communities. All Djirra's work is designed by and for Aboriginal women and is deeply respectful of and connected to community. Self-determination is the foundation of everything we do: it is Our Cultural Way.

Djirra's vision is to provide high quality culturally appropriate services for Aboriginal women in Victoria who have experienced or are experiencing family violence.

We are committed to ending family violence against Aboriginal women and their children through holistic and culturally safe specialist services, prevention programs and advocacy for change. Our services have state-wide reach.

Djirra offers a range of services including:

- Holistic and culturally safe legal and non-legal support to Aboriginal people, particularly women, who experience family violence or sexual assault. Each client is assisted by a lawyer and support worker who together address the multitude of interrelated legal and non-legal issues our women face. Legal advice and representation is provided on intervention orders, child protection, family law and victims of crime assistance.
- Individual Support Services is a program of Djirra which provides culturally safe, trauma informed support to Aboriginal women requiring personalised short or longer term interventions to assist in achieving a safe and stable environment for them and their children. Individual Support Services comprises case management with brokerage, face-to-face and phone counselling and an after-hours support line.
- The Koori Women's Place (KWP) provides wrap-around support and works to build trusting relationships with Aboriginal women through our shared connection to culture. Aboriginal women can be referred for an appointment, walk into our space or book into a workshop. Mainstream and Aboriginal service providers are available for appointments within the safety of the KWP.
- Our community education and engagement programs provide support for women through personal support and empowerment programs.

Djirra also offers a range of workshops in Melbourne and regional areas:

- Sisters Day Out® is a wellbeing workshop where Aboriginal women support each other, get information about legal rights and options, and engage with mainstream and Aboriginal support services.
- Dilly Bag is a four-day residential program that draws on cultural principles to promote healing.
- Young Luv® is designed for young Aboriginal women aged 13 to 18 and focuses on promoting healthy relationships.

<sup>1</sup> Djirra is the Woiwurrung word for the reed used by Wurundjeri women for basket weaving. Traditionally, when women gathered to weave, important talks took place and problems were solved. Djirra symbolises Aboriginal women today, still coming together to share stories, support each other and find solutions.
